

Hey Ms Donna,

12-20-12

Well alot has been going on since I last wrote, I went from Lowell Annex, to Horrestead, to Lowell Reception Center. I am in a faith based program. (Yeh! ☺) I am happy here. I feel like I have been deceived by the devil for most of my life. I've been living in a deception. But now I feel as though I am "sleeping beauty." I've been sleeping through life and now Jesus has came and kissed me and I am now alive. I am so filled with love my heart is gonna bust. There are numerous programs here to enhance my relationship with my Father. And I know that no matter what happens, it'll be ok because my Dad is in control of everything. I have joined a praise & worship team and we had to sing in front of everyone. I was so nervous but it was beautiful. I wish that everyone could come to faith based, it really does help you get grounded with the Truth + the Way + the Life.

Wishing you the happiest of Holidays

May God continue to bless you + your family.

Love
Wendy
